Police Department

Office of the Commissioner

January 1, 1971

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE,

Mayor of the City of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In compliance with the provisions of the Revised Ordinances of 1961, chapter 3, section 25, the annual report of the Boston Police Department for the year ending December 31, 1970, is herewith submitted.

During 1970, as in preceding years, the work of the Boston Police Department accelerated to record levels. A continuous rise in crime, increased criminal activity, disruptive incidents of street violence, and multiple called-for services to the public all contributed to the taxing demands on police facilities and manpower.

While endeavoring to anticipate and meet the broad challenges of these varied community and crime problems in a realistic and intelligent manner, the department continued to move ahead with on-going programs designed to further professionalize the police service and to insure the proficiency and competency of every officer. To that end planning, research, and development progressed in the areas of improved police training and education, better facilities and equipment, new and more sophisticated investigative techniques, increased coordination and cooperation with other police agencies, emphasis on organized crime, and numerous other specialized functions.

To achieve the police mission in our modern society requires of police employees a dimension of duty which demands dedication and loyalty. I am pleased to report that the men and women of the Boston Police Department have distinguished themselves in their response to that sacred trust, and I am proud to share with them in this city's law enforcement efforts and responsibilities. As Police Commissioner I wish to commend these devoted employees for their accomplishments and express appreciation to the citizens of this community without whose support and encouragement our objectives could not have been realized.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND L. McNAMARA,
Police Commissioner.

City of Boston

Office of the Mayor

City Hall, Boston

January 1, 1971

To the Members of the Boston Police Department:

It is with great pride that I contribute to this year's edition of the Boston Police Yearbook.

The Boston police force has been confronted in the past year with unprecedented challenges, and it has responded in the best professional tradition.

This city is a microcosm of a society in conflict. Our entire system of social order is threatened from all sides by spreading violence, drug abuse, mass protest demonstrations, and organized crime. In the midst of this conflict stands the police officer as the principal, and often the sole, defender of the peace. The Boston police force has filled this role with the highest courage, dedication, and restraint.

This city is indebted to your efforts to protect that peace and enable that conflict to be resolved without needless pain or violence. That is the essence of civilization, and civilization is at stake.

Sincerely,

KEVIN H. WHITE, Mayor.

RECIPIENTS OF AWARDS

Superintendent William J. Taylor presents the Walter Scott Medal for Valor and a Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman James W. Ralston of District Six for extreme courage in dissuading an armed robber from jumping from a roof in a suicide attempt while the felon was still armed. At no time did the officer draw his service revolver.

Superintendent Jeremiah Sullivan presents a Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman Robert J. Battis of the Tactical Patrol Force for apprehending, while off duty, two dangerous safecrackers during the commission of a crime in a drugstore.

Deputy Superintendent Joseph Sala presents a Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman Joseph L. Walsh of District Thirteen for his personal courage in saving the occupants of a flaming three-story building by running in and bringing them to safety.

Superintendent James Buchanan presents a Department Medal of Honor to Detective Frank Olbrys of the Criminal Investigation Division for his part in the solution of the murder of a nine-year-old boy. The subject was also indicted in the murder of three other persons.

Deputy Superintendent Herbert Craigwell presents the Department Medal of Honor to Detective Richard M. Driscoll of the Criminal Investigation Division for his part in the capture of two armed robbers during the commission of an armed robbery in which shots were fired at him and a brother officer by two masked gunmen.

Superintendent Herbert F. Mulloney presents a Department Medal of Honor and a Thomas F. Sullivan Award to Patrolman William F. MacLean of the Tactical Patrol Force for meritorious police duty. The officer, while off duty, singlehandedly apprehended and disarmed an armed robber in a stolen car when the felon pointed a revolver at him.

Deputy Superintendent Herbert Craigwell presents the Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman William H. Kelley, Jr., for his part in the capture of two armed males during the commission of an armed robbery in which shots were fired at him and a brother officer by two masked gunmen.

Superintendent James Buchanan presents a Department Medal of Honor to Detective Edwin J. Kennealey of the Criminal Investigation Division for his part in the solution of the murder of a nine-year-old boy. The subject was also indicted in the murder of three other persons.

Superintendent James Buchanan presents a Department Medal of Honor to Detective John T. Murray of the Criminal Investigation Division for his part in the solution of the murder of a nine-year-old boy. The subject was also indicted in the murder of three other persons.
